Seminar on the Richness of Sanskrit Literature and Modern Life Style

On November 16, 2022, the Department of Sanskrit organized a seminar on “The Richness of Sanskrit Literature and Modern Life Style” at Mahatma Gandhi Shati Smarak Mahavidyalaya Garua Maksudpur, Ghazipur for UG students. The lecture was conducted for both second-year and final-year students.

The head of the Department of Hindi and the incumbent Principal Shri Sushil Tiwari made the ceremonial welcome of the guest speakers. Mrs. Supriya chief guest of the seminar made his remark on the richness of Sanskrit Literature. Sanskrit is known as the mother of Indian languages. From ancient times Sanskrit has been venerated in entire world as a sacred and spiritual language. It is called “Sanskrit” because it is perfect and refined and strictly follows the grammatical rules. It is also known as Devabhāsā, the language of the gods. It is not only a classical language of India but it is a storehouse of knowledge and a treasure of splendid Indian culture. This language carries the Indian tradition and great Indian wisdom. The Sanskrit literature is oldest among the world literature. The R̥gveda has a credit to known as the most ancient and earliest literary record. The Vedas contain all sorts of sciences such as mathematics, medicine, architecture, agriculture, Vedas, astrology, and many more.

Another speaker Mr. Rajeev Kumar emphasis that Indian tradition knows Sanskrit as the language of the gods, which has been the dominant language of India for a period covering over four thousand years. Viewed from its rich heritage of literature, the fascinating charm of words, and its flexibility of expression about thought, Sanskrit occupies a singular place in the literature of the world. The Indian literary tradition is one of the oldest in the world. The earliest form of Indian Literature majorly consists of texts in the Sanskrit language. Indian literature has played a tremendous role in giving the country a distinct identity of intellectualism.

The concluding remarks were made by the Shri Nitesh Pandey by passing a vote of thanks.
